Fisk wins top ballot position in lottery

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Most incumbent elected officials did well Thursday in lotteries to determine the placement of names on the April 20 ballot.

The names of City Clerk Robert "Bob" Stevens and incumbent Aldermen Casmer Skubish and Judy Whitaker will be listed first among candidates for their respective offices.

Current Alderman Paul L. Fisk's name will be listed first among the 10 candidates for mayor.

Officials to be elected include a mayor, city clerk, eight aldermen, treasurer, assessor and township supervisor.

Barring any write-in campaigns, City Treasurer Gail Valle, Assessor Darlene Laub and Supervisor Nelson "Nellie" Hagauer will be unopposed. They were the only candidates to file for their respective offices.

Candidates' names appear on the ballot under the office they are seeking in the order in which they file petitions.

If more than one candidate for a particular office is present when the filing period opens, those candidates are considered to have filed simultaneously and a lottery is held to determine the order in which their names will appear. Associate Judge Michael Meehan drew the names during the lottery Thursday at 11:30 a.m. at City Hall.

In the mayor's race, current Alderman John "Jeff" Worthen will be listed second after Fisk. Worthen will be followed by

Some special Valentine's memories

Editor's note: In honor of Valentine's Day, the Press/Record/Journal asked readers to share their special romantic experiences. Following are the responses we received:

My husband and I met 15 1/2 years ago. We talked to each other for months before going out. We were both newly divorced and being cautious. Our first date was on Valentine's Day with his two children. Two dates later, Richard was giving me this speech on how we needed to go slow and take our time and get to know each other.

The next night he came over only to find an ex-boyfriend leaving after visiting a few minutes. Richard asked what he wanted and I explained he was just checking to see how I was doing. Within 30 minutes, Richard was asking me to marry him.

I ran over and put my arms around him and cried. It wasn't until he proposed that I realized I was in love with him.

We've been together now almost 15 years. We got engaged Feb. 17, 1978, and were married six weeks later, on March 31.

So much for taking it slow! I'm glad he changed his mind, because we've had a very good marriage so far and it is still getting better.

After 120 years, city plans zoning Venice proposal advances

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

For the first time since it was incorporated 120 years ago, Venice may soon have property zoning laws.

The Zoning Commission, chaired by Alderman John Ervin, presented a draft 50-page zoning ordinance for the city at a public hearing Tuesday.

The commission, appointed by Mayor Tyrone Echols to establish a zoning plan for the city, has worked on the ordinance for more than six months.

"It's important to remember that nothing we have done so far is cast in stone," Ervin said. "We are here to get input about what needs to be changed, what you like and what you don't like."

The commission hopes to have a final ordinance ready for the City Council to approve within the next 60 to 90 days.

The draft ordinance establishes four zoning classifications: R-1 one-family residence, R-2 general residence, C commercial and I industrial.

In the area zoned R-1, an area southeast of the city proper that currently has no buildings, only single-family homes, churches and schools will be permitted. Mobile homes and all commercial and industrial uses are prohibited.

In the areas zoned R-2, including most of the current residential neighborhoods in Venice and North Venice as well as vacant areas west of the New Salem Missionary Baptist Church, the proposed zoning permits all types of residences including single-family, two-family and multiple-family residences as well as mobile homes on permanent foundations. All commercial and industrial uses are prohibited.

In the areas zoned C, including both sides of Broadway, the Route 3 southern entry to the city and the area east of the north end of the Broadway viaduct, uses permitted are retail and service businesses and eating and drinking places.

In the areas zoned I, including most of the area surrounding Venice proper, permitted uses include manufacturing, warehousing and wholesale business (See ZONING, Page 14A)

76 educators plan to retire
Will take advantage of early retirement lawBy Bob Slate
Staff writer

Local job prospects are looking good for current college students majoring in education.

Seventy-six Granite City teachers and administrators have notified the school district of their plans to take advantage of an early-retirement incentive plan recently enacted by the state legislature, and many more are expected to do so within the next year.

While the retirement plan could drastically reduce the number of experienced teachers in the district, especially in the areas of mathematics and science, the financially strapped district expects to save millions of dollars by replacing those educators with entry-level teachers, said Norm Owca, director of finance for the district.

Those savings could then be used to purchase textbooks and to fund other programs.

In Granite City School District Nine, 201 certificated staff members are eligible to take advantage of the incentive this year, and an additional 18 will become eligible in 1994, Owca said.

The School Board adopted a plan Tuesday night for implementing the "five and five" retirement legislation.

The law enables certified staff to "buy" up to five years of service credit and five years of age enhancement by contributing the equivalent of 4 percent of salary for each year purchased.

The district is required to contribute the equivalent of 20 percent per participating employee per year.

Teachers must exercise the early-retirement option either this summer or in the summer of 1994.

The Granite City School Board placed no restriction on the number of eligible teachers who may apply this year, but imposed a cap of 30 percent of those eligible to retire in 1994.

For example, if 180 certified staff are eligible to retire next year, 54 will be allowed to do so under the early retirement incentive plan.

The purpose of the cap is not to prevent additional certified staff from retiring in 1994, but rather to allow additional staff to retire in 1995, Owca said.

Certified staff who notify the district of their intent to retire after the 30 percent cap has been reached next year may, at

Campaign signs meet criticism

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

A former Madison Avenue businessman says an alderman has ignored the spirit of a zoning law — a law the alderman pushed to get enacted.

The alderman, Jeff Worthen, chairman of the aldermanic Planning and Zoning Committee and a candidate for mayor, says his campaign headquarters is within the letter of the law.

Bud Charbonnier, who with his wife, Charlotte, operated an insurance office on Madison Avenue for a number of years, told the Plan Commission on Thursday night that Worthen's campaign headquarters, what are those signs doing to the residents he is claiming to want to protect?

Charbonnier asked during a discussion of a proposed sign ordinance amendment that would change the size, type and number of business signs allowed in the B-1 district.

The B-1 zoning district runs along the letter of the law.

Killer's appeal comes 30 minutes before court-granted deadline

Convicted murderer Lloyd Wayne Hampton will fight execution despite his earlier pleas for death.

Hampton's attorney, Charles Weitzman, filed an appeal in Madison County Circuit Court Thursday, 30 minutes before the deadline granted by the Illinois Supreme Court.

Weitzman refused comment, but said he planned additional filings next week. In the petition, Weitzman claims Hampton's rights were denied because he was not adequately informed of the consequences of his guilty plea in the murder of Roy "Jasper" Pendleton.

The petition claims the court informed Hampton he could be sentenced to death, but failed to advise him of other possible sentences.

The petition also alleges Hampton was not advised that he could be sentenced to life in prison or that only a single juror's vote was needed to prevent the death penalty.

The state high court granted a stay Nov. 10, a few hours before Hampton was scheduled to die. The court ruled Hampton could pursue his appeals, which he had previously refused to exhaust.

The original deadline for filing his post-trial petition was Jan. 11, but it was extended 30 days when Weitzman requested more time.

Hampton pleaded guilty to the 1990 murder of Pendleton in Troy and had repeatedly demanded that he be executed as soon as possible and that appeals be blocked.

He waived his right to sentencing before a jury.

Hampton said he also committed several other murders for which he was not charged and would "kill until I am killed." The Supreme Court ruled Hampton was mentally competent to waive further legal actions on his behalf after reviewing transcripts of a mental competency hearing in Madison County.

Hampton changed his mind about execution after a reunion with his sister at Stateville prison on the day before he was scheduled to die.

19-year-old is convicted of murdering Edwardsville woman

Relatives of Jeffrey Yates were escorted out of a Madison County courtroom after a jury found the 19-year-old guilty of murder, home invasion and burglary.

Yates, of East St. Louis, placed a hand over his eyes and slumped down in his chair as Chief Criminal Judge Edward Ferguson read the guilty verdicts Thursday afternoon. The jury deliberated about one hour and 20 minutes before reaching its verdict. Yates' attorney, Rand Hale, said he expects an appeal.

Yates, a former general equivalency diploma student at State Community College, was charged with first-degree murder in the Nov. 8, 1991, shooting death of 85-year-old Elizabeth Kirts of Edwardsville. Yates testified Wednesday that he had never been inside Kirts' apartment at 30 Devon Court, although his fingerprints were positively identified on jewelry boxes in the victim's bedroom.

After the verdict, family members embraced Yates as tears streamed down his cheeks. At one point several relatives had to forcefully pull Yates' oldest sister, Veronica Yates, away from him so authorities could take him back to the Madison County Jail.

"They set him up. They put those (jewelry) boxes in there," Veronica Yates yelled as her relatives struggled to remove her from the courtroom. "They won't get away with it."

While Ferguson read the verdicts, Yates' father, John Yates, offered his son hope. "Jeffrey, the Lord is going to bring you out, baby," John Yates told his son. "The Lord has the last word, baby. Edwardsville hasn't seen the last of us."

Outside the courtroom, John Yates was calm. "I'm surprised I have the peace I have," he said. "This certainly isn't the end. My son will live." Yates' mother, Billie Yates, sat motionless in the courtroom staring straight ahead for nearly 20 minutes before slowly walking out. Outside the courtroom, sheriff's deputies kept close watch on his relatives as they wept openly and embraced each other. — Madison County Assistant State's Attorney Robert Trone said he was pleased with the verdict. During closing arguments, Trone told jurors the fingerprints on the jewelry boxes served as eyewitnesses to Kirts' death. He said Yates left his prints while ransacking her apartment for money and jewelry.

While on the stand Wednesday, Yates testified he drove to Edwardsville the morning of the shooting to take his mother and sister to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. After he dropped them off he drove back to his mother's apartment, in the same building Kirts lived in, to take a bath and change clothes. — From the Alton Telegraph

Corbett gets life sentence

CARLINVILLE — Tammy Corbett's parents nervously waited Wednesday for a judge to decide whether their daughter should live or die for murdering her two children.

"A part of me would die, too," if she is sentenced to death, her mother, Katherine Sears, said. Circuit Judge Joseph Koval ended the suspense Thursday when he sentenced Corbett to life in prison without parole.

Koval had found Corbett guilty of suffocating her 36-day-old son Robert, in 1987 and 16-day-old daughter, Amy Cecille, in 1988. Corbett was found guilty of first-degree murder but mentally ill Friday after a five-day, non-jury trial.

Corbett, 27, was already serving 20 years at the Dwight Correctional Center for the 1989 murder of her first son, Richard Evans Jr., on his third birthday, in Jersey County. Corbett stared at the floor Tuesday and listened to defense attorneys and the prosecutor argue whether she should be sentenced to life in prison or death for the murders.

"She's an evil, brutal killer who should be put to death," Macoupin County State's Attorney Vince Moreth said.

"Tammy is mentally ill and her life should be spared," defense attorney Michael Burton told Koval.

Corbett murdered her three children, planned to kill an inmate at Dwight prison, Moreth told Koval.

"Tammy plotted to stab another inmate with a prison-made knife," he said.

An inmate testified Tuesday that Corbett had a razor blade and a knife made from a spoon to attack another prisoner.

"Tammy showed me a weapon, a broken spoon sharpened into a point," inmate Sandra Banks said.

Corbett called Banks "my dear teardrop" and wrote her as many as 70 letters in prison.

"I came close to using my ace in the hole (knife)" on an inmate, Corbett wrote in one letter to Banks, who is serving 25 years for murder.

Question: I am a secretary and I do a lot of sitting with my job. My problem is that my low back begins to ache after awhile. What can I do?

Answer: Whether you are a secretary, accountant, laborer or an executive you will probably experience low back pain sometime in your life. Twisting, lifting or excessive sitting or standing can produce low back discomfort. Well, first of all your spine is made of moveable bones called vertebrae. Very near to each vertebrae is a spinal nerve that communicates directly with your brain. The vertebrae are held together by ligaments and muscle. Between these vertebrae are shock absorbers called discs. The nerves very near the vertebrae can be irritated by a vertebrae or a disc that is not in proper position. This in turn can cause pain.

A Doctor of Chiropractic is a trained physician who can check the alignment and adjust the vertebrae to help remove the nerve irritation. So, my suggestion is to see a Doctor of Chiropractic to determine if this is the cause of your pain. If it is, it can be treated.

Concerned ticket captures top spot on Nameoki ballot

The Concerned About Nameoki Party slate in Nameoki Township will be listed first on the April 20 election ballot.

Concerned About Nameoki (CAN) will be followed by the Township Improvement Party (TIP) and then the Positive Action Party (PAP) on the ballot.

A lottery was held at the Township building Feb. 10 to determine the order of placement on the ballot.

Under Illinois election law, candidates' names appear on the ballot under the office they are seeking in the order in which they file petitions. If more than one candidate for a particular office is present when the filing period opens, those candidates are considered to have filed simultaneously and a lottery is held to determine the order in which their names will appear.

Haine, school officials predict more cooperation on crime

Madison County school officials and State's Attorney William Haine are predicting closer cooperation between schools and law enforcement authorities.

Some administrators, including Alton Superintendent David VanWinkle, expressed reservations last month about Haine's advocated get-tough policies at a forum on crime and education.

Among other things, Haine said he would ask school districts to adopt policies on the use of metal detectors and drug-sniffing dogs to root out guns and drugs.

At their meeting Thursday, Haine told administrators the policies are needed, but promised he would not act except at the request of school officials and police. VanWinkle was out of town and did not attend the meeting.

"We aren't going to be coming in like John Wayne and we won't be coming with the Hound of the

Candidates on the Concerned About Nameoki ticket are: Irene Karlechik for supervisor; Judy K. Merritt for clerk; Loren Madison for highway commissioner; James Noth for assessor; Shirley Harper for collector; and Charles Luehmann, Charles Reed, Harold "Gene" Briggs and incumbent Joseph Garcia for trustees.

Ken Davis heads the Township Improvement Party ticket, which includes current supervisor Lee Ridgeway for clerk; William "Bill" Ellis for highway commissioner; incumbent Carl Macios for assessor; Jeanette Wilson for collector; and Sam Stoyanoff, Wade Rollins, incumbent trustee Steve Isenburg and current highway commissioner W. Lee Adams for trustees.

The Political Action Party slate consists of Louis "Lou" Whitsell for supervisor; incumbent

Helen Hawkins for clerk; Harry Blockley for highway commissioner; Robert "Bob" Barthelmy for assessor; Peggy Lachmiller for collector; and Randy Ballew, Charles Pavier, Michael Nance and Ruth Andrews for trustees.

In Pontoon Beach, a lottery will be held at 9 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 17, to determine the placement of the two parties which filed full slates of candidates for the three trustee positions to be elected. All three incumbents are seeking re-election.

The Concerned About Pontoon Party lists Kerry Ervay and incumbents Bob Douglas and Marvin Ribbing.

The Positive For Progress Party ticket includes former trustee Robert "Bob" Vincent, Michael "Mike" Macek and incumbent Robert Abel.

Baskervilles," he said. "It'll be more like Rin-Tin-Tin or Lassie."

Haine asked school officials to support legislation to mandate that administrators report serious crimes in and around schools to authorities.

The legislation also would require state's attorneys to notify school officials when students are charged with wrongdoing away from school.

Haine said those measures are being drafted by the Illinois State's Attorneys Association and the Illinois Association of Chiefs of Police.

Haine also asked for support to enhance penalties for crimes committed in and around schools. That measure is backed by the state's attorneys' group and expected to be introduced in the Legislature in a few days.

Haine told the school officials he "never meant to infer that our schools are terrible places or anything of the sort." He called county schools "very well-run" and "very good places for learning."

Still, he said, there are problems with drugs, guns and alcohol.

"I believe we're on our way to meeting any problem we have with strict law enforcement," Haine said. He said he seeks a situation where "the students who want to learn can learn ... and those people who do not want to learn are removed."

Collinsville Superintendent Jack Renfro said school officials should be supportive of Haine.

Regional Superintendent of Schools Harry Briggs said the meeting "established an air of cooperation."

Haine said he was pleased with the meeting.

"Our common goal is a sanctuary, where a student can learn," he said.

Decision due on juvenile center

The Madison County Board will decide this week whether to ask voters for a temporary two-cent property tax to build a new juvenile detention home.

After almost two years of delay, the County Board's Finance, Buildings and Health Institutions Committee voted 8-2 Thursday to impose a special tax of two cents per $100 assessed valuation to pay for $4 million in construction costs for a new juvenile facility.

The full board is scheduled to vote on the proposal at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday.

If the board approves the proposal, it would be placed on the April 20 ballot, since any new property tax needs voter approval.

The new tax, which would automatically cease once bonds issued to pay for the building are repaid, would cost the owner of a $75,000 home assessed at $25,000 about $5 a year.

Some board members are skeptical about the proposal's chances of passing in April, in large part because the county proposal would not be the only tax-increase referendum on the ballot.

The Edwardsville School District will be asking voters for permission to raise almost $30 million for a new high school, a plan that could cost some homeowners as much as $135 more a year.

The county, however, is under the gun to do something about violations of state codes at the juvenile home. The Illinois Attorney General's Office is threatening to sue if the county does not bring the home up to code.

If voters reject a special juvenile home tax in April, the board could attempt another referendum in November or dip into reserves to finance construction.

A new juvenile home is expected to cost between $87,000 and $118,000 per bed, which puts the final cost in the neighborhood of $4 million.

Some committee members had suggested using a portion of the county's $10.9 million surplus fund to pay for a new juvenile center but they apparently abandoned that position Thursday.

On February 24, 1993 at 10:00 A.M. there will be a sale to enforce the warehousemen lien according to the SELF-STORAGE ACT passed in 1985.

'Hate crime' statistics show need for Americans to live up to ideals

By U.S. Sen. Paul Simon

In 1989, I introduced a bill calling on the U.S. attorney general to keep track of "hate crimes," committed against people or property because they belong to some group — white, black, Jewish, Catholic, gay, Italian, Polish or whatever.

The bill passed and President Bush signed it into law.

The attorney general authorized the FBI to tabulate the data, and their first report has now been made, not giving any clear national picture because only 27 percent of the police agencies cooperated — not because of opposition, but because it is new to most departments and state police agencies.

In Maryland, there was 100 percent cooperation because they have had such a law on the books for several years.

Illinois has not and had only some police departments cooperating. Starting in 1992, Illinois law requires all police departments to cooperate.

A hate crime is one in which there is a clear motivation against someone for reasons of prejudice.

For example, if a white person kills a black person or a black kills a white that is not a hate crime unless the killer said to a friend, "I wanted to get one of them" or made some similar indication of motive.

With roughly one-fourth of the police departments in the nation cooperating, 4,558 hate-crime incidents were reported in 1991.

The crimes varied from 12 murders to 1,614 acts of intimidation.

Property damage accounted for 1,301 incidents, such as painting a swastika on a synagogue or throwing a brick through the window of the home of an African-American family moving into a white neighborhood.

Racial bias motivated six of 10 offenses, religious bias two of 10, ethnic, one of 10, and anti-homosexual attitude, one of 10. Of the hate crimes, 35 percent were against blacks, 19 percent were against whites, and 6 percent were against Asian-Americans.

Of the ethnic crimes, nationally, more than half were against Hispanics, but in Illinois there were more crimes against Arab-Americans.

Of the religious crimes, more than half were against Jews, with anti-Catholic crimes being next highest.

All of this will become more significant in future years when we have fuller information and we learn whether these crimes are increasing or decreasing.

What we do know already is that we have problems.

The failure to reach out and understand one another is not a problem only between Muslims and Orthodox and Catholics in Bosnia, not simply between Protestants and Catholics in Northern Ireland, not simply between Jews and Arabs in the Middle East. It is a problem in our neighborhoods and communities.

We have to do a better job of living up to our ideals.

The statistics tell us that.

Immorality eroding nation's future

TO THE EDITOR:

Repent and be saved. God is calling us to repent, to turn from our indifference to Him, to His laws. His standard of right and wrong.

Admit that we are wrong, that we have cast aside the restraints that held in check the evil tides of immorality that are fast destroying our nation.

Our great ship America is fast going under; only the upper stern is still visible. Standing on the hull are men and women, boys and girls, soon to be swallowed up in the sea of evil forces that have slowly seeped into the great vessel, now becoming an overflowing ocean swallowing up America.

There is only one chance for help and hope now left. Call out to God for forgiveness, turn from wickedness, return to our places of worship and live by the standards He has given us in His word. II Chronicles 7:14 is our only hope.

Where Beautiful Things Begin

FEEDING WILD BIRDS

Food for Birds
Birds have distinct preferences about the type of foods they eat. In order to attract certain birds to your yard you will have to select the correct seed. For instance the American Goldfinch is attracted to sunflower seeds, millet and thistle. If you offer any or all of these seeds, your chances of attracting the American Goldfinch is much better.

At Frank's you'll find nutritious mixes as well as specialized seeds to attract the birds you desire in your yard. We also have FREE literature and charts on wild bird feeding needs. Consult Frank's FREE booklet on Wild Birds Feeding & Housing at our Information Centers located in each store.

Suet cakes are another favorite of our feathered outdoor friends. They are generally made of beef or mutton fat and can be found at any Frank's location. They often have seeds, such as millet or sunflower seeds, or peanut hearts mixed in. The fat is needed by birds in the winter to help keep them warm. Suet cakes are a favorite of insect-eating birds.

Water for Birds
In addition to food, birds also need a source of water for bathing and drinking. Keep a shallow container or bird bath filled with fresh water. In the winter, remove any ice that forms on the surface.

Small ponds in the home landscape are also very popular these days. Here are a few pointers to attract birds if you decide to install a pond:

- Keep sides gently sloped.
- Birds need shallow areas in which to bathe.
- Leave some clear areas along the edges to allow safe access to the water.
- Change water regularly and keep the pond free of fallen leaves and debris.

Feeding Stations
You'll have the greatest success if your feeding stations are properly placed and maintained. Group together several feeders. Place them near trees and other landscape plants, so birds have easy access to cover. Most birds will not come to feeders in open areas.

At Frank's we carry a wide range of feeders from tube feeders to window feeders to hummingbird feeders and more. Certain birds are attracted to certain types of feeders.

Once again you can consult Frank's FREE booklet on Wild Birds Feeding & Housing for further information on the type of feeder you need.

PAUL FISK

FOR MAYOR

"BUILDING THE BRIDGE TO OUR FUTURE"

During my fourteen years as an alderman, I have seen the rise, the fall and the rebirth of Granite City. I have worked in partnership with two mayors and over 40 different aldermen, creating jobs, rehabilitating homes, regionalizing the treatment plant and helping to bring progress to our City. I have been able to serve so long and be so productive because I have been in public life to build bridges, not promote confrontations.

In public life, leadership is often times confused with headline-grabbing antics. In my opinion, the path to lasting accomplishments lies not in solo grandstanding, but in working cooperatively with others.

While I have not been prominently in the public eye, my work has been "quietly effective", helping literally hundreds of Granite City residents.

I am proud of my record of public service, a record of positive cooperation. I have always focused on the big picture and the best overall interest of our City, and not on partisan pettiness. At a time when Granite City could be pulled apart by competing political factions and generations, I will join together those who have served the City well in the past, and those who are destined to take us into the 21st Century. My Administration will build the bridge between the history of the past and the promise of tomorrow.

I am a working man, and have been so all of my life. I believe strongly in the values of hard work. As I have done all my public life, I will work hard to put the interest of the people first and always. With your help, we will build the bridge that will guarantee a transition of progress, unity and prosperity.

In promoting cooperation instead of confrontation, pulling together instead of pulling apart, "in building the bridge to our future", we will literally change the face of Granite City politics. It will be a slow, and at times, hard process. But we have to take the first small steps. It is better to light one candle than to curse the darkness. It is time to start anew.

SIU board approves bond sale for construction of dormitories

CARBONDALE — The sale of $20 million in revenue bonds, including $13.6 million for SIUE dormitory construction, has been approved by the SIU Board of Trustees.

A 500-bed residence hall is planned near Tower Lake Apartments on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The location selected is at the site of the present University Police office.

The dormitory will house freshmen and sophomores. Monthly rental charges will pay off the bonds.

In other action Thursday, the SIU Board of Trustees authorized an installment payment program for fees paid by SIUE students. SIUE officials will submit a plan for approval by Chancellor James Brown, to be effective with the fall term.

The plan is intended to ease the financial impact on students as the campus converts from quarters to semesters beginning in the fall.

Proposed increases of 3 percent to 7 percent in housing rental rates at the SIUE campus are scheduled for action at the board's March 11 meeting in Edwardsville.

The new rates, presented to the board Thursday, would become effective with the summer term if approved. They are designed to offset projected increases in operating costs. Also before the board is a proposal to put single-student housing rental rates on a per-term rather than monthly basis.

The board Thursday re-elected A.D. VanMeter Jr. as its chairman. Also re-elected were Molly D'Esposito as vice chair and George T. Wilkins Jr. as secretary.

Mr. Chairmen — Heads of the county boards of three of Illinois' most populous counties get together after a meeting Tuesday in Collinsville. From left are St. Clair County Board Chairman John Barcevic, Cook County Board President Richard Phelan and Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer. Many area officials called for an end to unfunded state mandates during the meeting.

Crime-free zones set for schools

Federal prosecutors want to stake out crime-free turf around area schools.

Warning signs will mark areas around schools where penalties are greater for drug deliveries. The program is sponsored by the office of U.S. Attorney Frederick Hess of the Southern District of Illinois.

Federal prosecutors will also be helping state's attorneys in prosecuting such offenses, said Deirdre Durbin, community relations coordinator with the U.S. Attorney's Office.

Both federal and state laws provide more severe penalties for drug sales within 1,000 feet of schools, Durbin said.

"We want to mark the borders of the school zones at the four corners where the 1,000 feet begins," she said.

"In Texas, where this program started, people soon began to learn where the 1,000 feet was," Durbin said. "It's not going to end the problem, but it carves out little drug-free areas."

Durbin said a community fund created through a lawsuit award paid for signs posted around East St. Louis schools in January.

Local financial support is being sought to extend the program to Alton, she said. "We're confident of local contributions in Alton," Durbin said.

Madison County State's Attorney William Haine said he endorses the program.

"It's another effort to give notice that schools should be free from guns and drugs," Haine said.

He said only a few people create the problems.

"The effort must be to weed them out and remove them," Haine said.

"In the final analysis, it takes day-to-day emphasis on enforcement."

Bosses don't care, Aid caseworker says

SPRINGFIELD — The indifference shown to complaints from front-line workers demonstrates top management's attitude toward employees and those on welfare, a veteran Department of Public Aid caseworker in Madison County says.

"Once again, it shows (top administrators) don't care about the people we service nor do they care about their employees," said Rita Knowles of East Alton, a 20-year Public Aid caseworker.

Knowles responded to comments by agency spokesman Dean Schott, who said there are no plans to hire additional caseworkers. Schott also said caseloads after front-line workers were laid off in December were "not increased that dramatically."

"It's not going to change with the Edgar administration in there now," Knowles said.

"We'll remember Gov. Edgar in 1994 (when he is up for re-election). He'll find out what (President) Bush found out."

Knowles said a recent newspaper series, which appeared last month in the Granite City

Press/Record-Journal, detailing complaints of caseworkers in the East Alton office "did a lot for the morale of the workers and they really appreciated it, but I don't think the administration appreciated it."

Maybe it's also helped the clients to understand us better. It's not that we don't want to get their benefits to them or take the time to listen to them. Hopefully they will understand more about what we have to deal with from higher management in Springfield," she said.

Knowles acknowledged some supervisors at the East Alton office were upset by the comments she and others made that it was unfair for six non-supervisors to be laid off when no supervisors lost their jobs.

"We've got good supervisors and we don't want any of them to lose their jobs but what's fair is fair," Knowles said.

"Our supervisors (in East Alton) are caught in the middle between higher-ups telling them what to do and ... the flack from us."

Knowles also charged that upper management repeatedly ignores common-sense suggestions from those in the field offices.

For example, Knowles said, workers have said it would be more efficient if they were able to specialize more. Now they are overwhelmed by having to complete numerous forms for a variety of programs while interviewing clients in the office and on the telephone.

She said that, when the office staff was recently required to view a videotape on efficiency from the Public Aid training department, the caseworkers were "just rolling" with laughter.

"They had this man sitting at a desk with just a phone and paper and pen who answered one call and wrote down all the information. He had about 50 file folders on his desk versus the 300 or more we have. It was ridiculous."

In real life, caseworkers at the office cannot even get Springfield to approve requests for more file cabinets so workers don't have to pile up their desk or use paper boxes, Knowles said.

Despite the request being raised at labor-management meetings for two years, Public Aid officials in Springfield are still studying it, she said.

"This is typical. All we're asking is for file cabinets to be better organized and for a safer office."

"I know they have file cabinets in storage in Springfield but we can't get any because they don't listen to employees."

If You Have Low Back Pain, The Doctor Can See You Now.

Over 80% of all Americans will suffer from low back pain at some time in their lives. If you're one of them, you know how devastating it can be. But pain is only a symptom—and finding its cause is the first step to relief.

Today, there's a new tool to assist physicians in determining the source of your pain: Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI). This proven technique is completely non-invasive. It lets doctors see a clear picture of your back and spine—without radiation, surgery or a hospital stay. So whether your pain is caused by muscle strain, injury or disease, whether it originates in the spinal column or nervous system, MRI can help your doctor identify the cause and point the way to treatment.

Low back pain is just one health problem where MRI is making a critical difference in diagnosis and care. Other applications include use in evaluating:

- Sports injuries
- Hearing loss & equilibrium problems
- Work-related injuries
- Neck pain
- Joint pain (including hips, knees and shoulders)

Plus other areas.

To find out more about MRI, ask your doctor. Or contact:

Business profile

Fat Archie's owner, Archie Lupardus, center, with his wife, Judie, left, and daughter, Becky, who works in the restaurant also.

Restaurant in new location

Before Archie Lupardus and his wife, Judie, found the first permanent location for their business, they would carry their barbecue grill behind the truck they drove and park at sports events, selling barbecue.

They found a following for their barbecue items and decided to open a restaurant at 3005 Edwardsville Road in February 1990. The small "hole in the wall" attracted truck drivers, mill workers and other faithful local customers, but Archie Lupardus decided the place wasn't big enough, so he moved on to a bigger and better location at 2800 East 23rd Street in Granite City.

Fat Archie's Barbecue offers a variety of barbecue specialties plus fish and fried chicken, hamburgers, fries, steaks, tacos and daily specials.

The business has about 15 full- and part-time employees. Archie's daughter, Becky Lupardus, is the restaurant manager and his niece, Barb Swenker, and daughter-in-law, Sheila Lupardus, also work in the restaurant.

Archie and Judie Lupardus attend church at Tri-City Park Tabernacle.

The restaurant is open from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday, with a $5.95 all-you-can-eat buffet after 2 p.m. on Wednesday and Friday.

Invest in stocks at an early age

Why do most individuals shun investing in stocks and bonds? The answer is quite simple: lack of knowledge and fear of losing their investment.

Most people are well aware, however, that in the long term, the stock market outperforms most investments.

The following suggestions might be helpful in assisting your children and grandchildren in acquiring the financial aptitude they will need to be financially successful in the future.

Start early: Establishing a bank account for a child is the beginning of a lifetime investment plan.

For example, grandparents could open a passbook savings account depositing the cash gift they give at a child's baptism. A passbook account is ideally suited for a child's needs.

Deposits should be made at regular intervals. When the child is five or six, they could be taken to the bank to make the deposits themselves.

Learn the fundamentals: Nothing enhances the learning process faster than personal experience.

A gift of 10 or 20 shares of stock to a child while in high school ideally serves this end. Following the stock in the local paper or the Wall Street Journal soon becomes a habit.

Reading the quarterly statements and the annual report is a great learning experience. Before long, the language of the stock exchange will be mastered.

To make such a gift, all one needs to do is call up a stockbroker, open an account and make a purchase order.

The parent or some other adult should be listed as the owner under the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act or Uniform Transfers to Minors Act for the benefit of the child.

Choosing a stock: If you don't know what stock to pick, investment professionals often suggest a blue-chip stock. A blue-chip stock is from a company that has long-term stock outstanding, is a recognized name, and has an annual dividend yield in the 4 percent area.

Examples of such companies include AT & T, Coca-Cola, Exxon, General Electric, etc. A mutual fund is an alternative consideration and would also provide the child with more diversification, since mutual funds invest in many different companies.

Investment confidence: Skeptics often have numerous reservations against an investment program.

The primary one is that all the money could be lost. It is interesting that the same logic is not applied to the purchase of a dirt bike or a Nintendo game, which are often discarded after a few years.

So give your child or grandchild a head start, regardless of their age.

It will assist them in attaining a much-needed financial lesson that most of their peers will never receive, or receive too late.

If you help your children learn the basics today, their investment decisions will be that much easier.

We had dated for several years and were planning a vacation to Jamaica. My husband, unknown to me, planned for months before we left to surprise me and ask me to marry him.

He arranged all of the details of the wedding, which was to take place in Montego Bay, Jamaica.

We arrived on a Tuesday and on that night we were in an outdoor hot tub at the resort. It was a beautiful Caribbean night, stars shining on the water, waves hitting the rocks below us. He got down on one knee and put my wedding ring on my finger and asked me to marry him.

It was the most romantic night of my life. I could not believe this was happening. After a few moments, I caught my breath and asked him when he wanted to get married. He said, "How about this Saturday?"

Well, I went ballistic. I couldn't believe this was really happening. I caught my breath again, and then he told me two of our best friends were flying in Thursday to stand up for us at the wedding.

I was in orbit. In a span of about half an hour, I found out I was engaged, I was getting married in four days, and our best friends were going to be there.

Wow!

We were married Aug. 11 at 11 a.m. in Montego Bay in a gazebo that was on the edge of the Caribbean sea.

My husband arranged the wedding, my wedding dress, the pictures and video of the wedding, and our friends to be there. I also found out later that I had carried our wedding rings in the camera case the entire trip.

That was two and one-half years ago and my head is still spinning. Wow!

MIKE and KAREN MILLER

March 1, 1991, started out as a usual Friday but it ended up to be the best day of my life.

Dennis had planned the day's occurrences with my co-workers at St. Louis University Medical Center and my mother. But prior to this, Dennis had met with both our parents to ask them for my hand in marriage.

My co-workers were to take me to lunch in the hospital cafeteria at a specific time set by everyone involved. While we were eating lunch, Dennis walked into the cafeteria with a dozen roses in one hand and a small white box in the other.

Dennis approached our table and got down on one knee, handing the box to me, and asked me to marry him. Of course, I said "Yes."

We are planning a May 1 wedding.

JULIE CANN and
DENNIS WILMSMEYER

I've been married four years to a wonderful man. His name is Dennis. He was never a romantic person but he's good at heart. When he asked me to marry him, he came over to my parents' house. My mom let him in and he came into my room and woke me up and sat on my bed. He asked me if I was awake yet. I said, "I guess I am."

Then he asked me if I loved him. I said "Yes, why?" Then he asked me if I'd be able to put up with him the rest of my life. I said, "Yeah, I guess. Why are you asking me all of these questions?"

Then he said "Here," and gave me a box. I opened it. It was my engagement ring.

He asked, "Will you marry me?" I said, "Yes," and gave him a big hug.

Then I got on him for asking me when I wasn't cleaned up. It was really sweet to me.

JOHNNA PATTERSON

My greatest surprise was long ago when we first met, 13 years ago, to be exact.

I knew at first glance that he was the right kind of guy for me, but our young loves took us separate ways, not knowing our destiny.

Twelve years had passed when we re-met. Did I marry him? Yes, you bet!

To my surprise I came to find out that he, too, had noticed me without a doubt. After miles of distance and years of pain, we were reunited without refrain. Our courtship grew stronger with each and every day and our engagement came about in exactly this way.

Planning for dinner with my man and his friends, I scurried and primed with my nerves on end.

That very same day I had casually announced, if he were to ask, engagement would be pronounced. Having no real idea what his heart had decided, I arrived at his place, my hand soon to be guided.

He was so calm and cool with the ease of a butterfly, my stomach so nervous and I didn't know why.

He handed me a card all wrapped in red; his friends could wait, is what he said. I read the card, so precious and sweet, as flowers stood high for my eyes to meet.

Under the vase lay a few written words, sending me on a scavenger hunt like you've never heard.

From the table to the couch is where I was led, finding another loving note to send me ahead. From the cushions of the couch, I rushed to the balcony, to find another love note, note number three.

From the star-lit view I was guided to the light that accompanied our dinners nearly every night. As I climbed from the table with wonder in my eyes, I opened the oven door and was I ever surprised!

All sparkling and gold was his mother's engagement ring. I was so excited, I couldn't say a thing. I ran around the table like a spastic little squirrel. On the second time around, he gave me a whirl.

I giggled and cried as my eyes had one more look and, without hesitation, his proposal I took. We have been as one now for just over a year, and with him by my side, nothing I fear.

Through thick and thin, through sweet and tart, my husband and best friend will forever hold my heart.

I love you all the world, Richie!

Forever yours,

Telephone customers in Illinois are being asked to make contributions to a new program helping needy households across the state get basic phone service. The voluntary contributions will be eligible for federal matching funds.

The new Illinois Telephone Assistance Program will be administered by a not-for-profit Universal Telephone Assistance Corporation (UTAC), to be made up of representatives of local telephone companies and consumer-interest groups.

Local telephone company customers are being notified of the program through an insert in their February phone bills. Customers can contribute to the program by having a fixed amount added to their monthly bill.

Residential customers will be able to select one of four donation amounts: 50 cents, $1, $2, or $5. Business customers may automatically contribute $1, $5, $10 or $25.

One-time contributions may be made directly to the Universal Telephone Assistance Corporation (UTAC), c/o the Illinois Telephone Assistance, 300 East Monroe, Springfield, Ill. 62701.

After collecting contributions for six months, the UTAC will recommend the type of assistance program to be offered, subject to Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) approval. Options are to waive a portion of the initial service installation charges for eligible low-income households or to provide eligible customers with a fixed reduction on their monthly phone bill.

UTAC will manage the Illinois Telephone Connection Program, which waives 50 percent, up to $30, of initial telephone service installation charges, beginning with new service installed on or after March 1. The Connection Program is supported entirely by federal funds. More than 600,000 persons now are receiving information about this program in mailings from the Illinois Department of Public Aid.

The two programs were developed to take advantage of federal al funds available to help low-income households pay for basic phone service. Persons who participate in Department of Public Aid programs or who receive food stamps may be eligible for assistance.

"While most of us take the telephone for granted, five percent of households in Illinois still don't have basic phone service," said H.R. Gentsch, executive vice president and general manager of Harrisonville Telephone Company. "These programs recognize that the telephone truly can be a lifeline in emergency situations and a critical link to family, doctors, schools and employers. It's important that we in Illinois make every effort to capture federal funds that can bring phone service to more homes."

Gentsch stated that customer questions about either program should call 906-612.

The new programs are similar to assistance programs which were introduced in 1989 and 1991. The earlier programs were dropped after customer complaints about a 15-cent per month surcharge on phone bills which was used to help fund a reduction on low-income customers' monthly bills. After that controversy, the Illinois General Assembly passed a law requiring the ICC to establish guidelines for a voluntary assistance program.

my birthday, Oct. 23, 1992. It was very romantic.

He picked me up from work in a white limousine. The driver brought a dozen boxed pink roses into where I work just before we closed.

We went to dinner at a fancy restaurant in Clayton, the Cheshire Inn. After dinner, we went on a horse and carriage ride for an hour through Clayton and Forest Park.

In the carriage were a dozen boxed red roses. After the ride, we got back into the limo and went to a place where there were a dozen pink, white and red roses in a vase. On a nightstand there were a single red rose, a bottle of champagne and two glasses.

On the desk there was a present. When I opened the present, inside was a Precious Moments figurine of a boy asking a girl to marry him.

I looked at this, and when I turned to look at Jim, he got down on one knee and, with a ring in his hand, said, "Will you marry me?" I said "Yes" and began to cry.

EDIE HARD

Jan. 7 was our 15th wedding anniversary.

My husband and I had planned a weekend at Pere Marquette Lodge. As we left for our weekend retreat, we stopped by the MHC Club to see my parents.

When we entered the downstairs hall, we were greeted with a loud "Surprise!" About 30 to 40 of our friends and relatives had gathered for a "surprise wedding."

My husband had planned a whole wedding. There were a cake and decorations, food and even a wedding dress. My oldest daughter and sister were my maids of honor.

My husband's brother and our oldest son were best men. A niece and nephew were flower girl and ringbearer. My sister-in-law and her mother had been very busy making formal dresses and vests.

We renewed our marriage vows under an arch of balloons. The minister was from the church we were first married in. To top it all off, when the part of the ceremony came to exchanging rings, my husband replaced my original wedding rings with brand new ones.

I now have two terrific memories of marrying the man I love.

St. Louis woman wins jackpot

SPRINGFIELD — A St. Louis woman will spend the majority of her $18 million winnings from the Feb. 6 Illinois Lottery on building a non-denominational church.

Janette Lee, 52, purchased her winning ticket at the Route 3 Gift Shop and Lottery in Sauget. The retailer will receive a 1 percent bonus of $180,000.

Lee came to the U.S. from Hong Kong in 1972, leaving her family behind. She plans on calling them soon and will have them pay her a visit. She didn't find out she was the winner until last Sunday, when her cousin checked the numbers in a newspaper. "I couldn't sleep, I can't eat either," Lee said.

Lee quit her job as a paralegal and Chinese/English translator for a St. Louis law firm on Monday.

Scholarship information offered

Most parents and students think that scholarships are only for the students with good grades, low-income families, or the athletically inclined.

A small example of the numerous scholarships available to students include: Left-Handed Scholarship, Handicapped Student Scholarship, Members of a Church Scholarships, David Letterman's Scholarship for "C" Students, Veteran Children's Scholarships, Scholarships for minorities and much more.

The general public is not aware that over $10 billion is available to students from private sector scholarships. Over $20.4 billion from the federal government.

In a U.S. Congressional study, it was reported that, "Over $6.6 billion of private sector financial aid went unused because parents and students did not know where to apply." A conservative college tuition for a full-time student runs from $10,000-$30,000. High scoring colleges run from $40,000-$100,000 - and this tuition is per year.

There are organizations that must have spent hundreds of hours in research, locating scholarships sources. These organizations are American Educational Excellence (AEE) members and have a list of over 400 different scholarships available. The lists include the scholarship names, addresses, telephone numbers, application deadlines, summaries about the scholarships and the amount the scholarship will pay your child.

Many scholarships pay the entire tuition. Otherwise, students combine applicable scholarships together to form one large tuition payment. Most scholarships include junior colleges, career and vocational schools, four year colleges, graduate schools and medical and law schools.

For information on obtaining these scholarship lists, send a S.A.S.E. to: The U.S. Channel of Commerce For Higher Education, P.O. Box 1161, Hanford, Calif. 93232.

Foster care families being sought

Hoyleton Youth and Family Services is seeking caring and nurturing families to provide foster care for children while their parents learn to become better parents.

The Family Reunification Program is an intensive six-month program for families whose children are wards of the state. Foster parents are needed for these children while their biological parents receive counseling and learn positive parenting skills to reduce or eliminate the reasons the children were removed from the family. Foster families will be provided with specialized training to work with parents and children. Requirements for foster families include lots of love and a willingness to help families and children.

Eftimoffs meet correspondent

Local residents Anita and Vasil Eftimoff met Peter Maer, radio correspondent for NBC, at Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 16 prior to President-elect Bill Clinton's Sunday motorcade from Thomas Jefferson's Monticello home into Washington, D.C.

Maer, raised and educated in Granite City, has been a member of the White House Press Corps since the Reagan administration. While assigned to George Bush, Pete accompanied for former president overseas 35 of the 37 trips during his four years in office.

As a member of the working press, Pete was aboard one of the nine brightly painted buses that moved in a motorcade from Monticello to Culpepper, Va., for church services and then on to Washington, D.C., for the official opening of the inaugural ceremonies. The Eftimoffs said they joined the motorcade. They stayed in Washington, D.C., attending various receptions, two balls, the swearing-in ceremonies, and other private parties.

While a student at Coolidge Junior High School, Peter Maer was in Dr. Eftimoff's 7th and 8th grade Language Arts' class.

Evening Circle plans party for center residents

The Evening Circle of the First Presbyterian Church met in the home of Betty Rea. Chairman Gladys Fuhrman opened the meeting with scripture, reading Luke 6:20-38 followed by prayer.

Plans were discussed for a birthday party for the residents of Colonial Care Center in February. Members were reminded that the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity began on the 18th.

Minutes were ready by Secretary Betty Rea. June Jones gave the Mission Yearbook of Prayer, remembering Nicaragua.

The Fellowship of the Least Coin entitled, "Jesus Heals the Lame Man," a voice from the Solomon Islands, was read by Betty Schmudeke.

The evening lesson, "Beware of Partiality," was presented by Gladys Fuhrman; it emphasized that "partiality," or "acts of favoritism," are inconsistent with Christian faith. Scripture from James 2:1-13 was used in the lesson. Following a discussion, the lesson concluded with prayer.

The gathering closed as the members formed a circle and repeated the Mizpah.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to Barbara Landis, Shirley Yates, Burdine Holtscher, Gladys Fuhrman, Gladys Pape, Betty Schmudeke and June Jones.

Shannon Nicole Stapleton received the top awards of the day at the preliminary USA's Little Miss Illinois pageant held Jan. 24 at the Granite City Township Hall.

Shannon competed in the 8-9 age division of the pageant and was crowned age division queen and photogenic queen. Shannon received overall awards for Best Fashion, Best Sportswear and Most Beautiful.

Clinton to get health insurance message

ALTON — President Clinton will be getting a message from area residents who favor a national health insurance plan. About 5,000 messages, that is.

Area members of the Campaign for Better Health Care have gathered more than 5,000 postcards urging the new president to back a national health insurance system.

"It looks pretty good," said Charles Mohr, a retired labor leader who has helped coordinate the drive. "We've got our quota. I know we've got over 5,000."

Mohr said people who have been involved in the local drive will meet Thursday night to decide whether to mail the postcards or try to deliver them personally.

sonally Valentine's Day.

A previous plan to deliver postcards Jan. 20, the day Clinton was inaugurated, was scrapped because of scheduling problems.

The local group is part of a statewide coalition of 230 organizations and individuals that back a reformed system.

The drive began in December and concentrated in Alton, East Alton and Wood River. Members went door-to-door and met with church groups and other organizations, Mohr said.

The nation's health-care system is in critical condition, Mohr said. "I had insurance when I was working," he said. "Then I retired and I didn't have it."

Many people, he said, have to choose between food and proper health care.

Mohr said he thinks a government agency should provide health insurance for all, leaving the choice of health care providers to the individual.

"Put it all in one pot, then you go to the doctor that you want," Mohr said.

He said he fears other proposals for overhauling the system would limit patients' choices.

"We're going to wait and see what Clinton comes up with," Mohr said. "There's going to be a lot of pressure. We'll try to get it done. I hope they do something drastic."

as well as laboratories, truck terminals and public utility buildings. All residential uses are prohibited.

The ordinance also sets up minimum lot sizes, maximum number of dwellings, minimum yard dimensions, minimum off-street parking and other restrictions for each of the zoning classifications.

In areas zoned R-1 and R-2, the minimum lot size is 5,000 square feet at least 50 feet wide and at least 100 feet deep.

In those areas, buildings must be set back at least 20 feet from the street, at least five feet from a lot line and at least 10 feet from any other building.

The zoning commission stressed that all uses and buildings that exist on the day the ordinance takes effect are considered "grandfathered" and will continue to be permitted even if they are in violation of the new zoning ordinance.

In addition, because Venice was laid out in 25-foot-wide lots, construction of a new home will be permitted in all single 25-foot-wide lots in the R-2 areas that are vacant the day the ordinance takes effect, as long as the new building meets the setback distance and yard area requirements.

Several people at the hearing expressed concern about mobile homes being allowed anywhere in the R-2 areas and suggested the city restrict mobile homes to mobile-home parks.

Alderman Henry Fletcher said he understood those concerns, but said that mobile homes would be more likely to use the vacant 25-foot lots because the restrictions would make it very hard to build a house.

Ervin said he believes it would be possible to build homes on the 25-foot lots using a split-level design "that goes up, not out."

Ervin said he had seen that type of home construction in the Chicago area.

The zoning commission agreed to again discuss the issue of mobile homes.

The proposed ordinance also establishes the position of zoning administrator and a zoning board of appeals as well as the procedures for granting and denying building and use permits and appealing those decisions.

Other areas covered in the proposed zoning ordinance include fences and walls, home occupations, junk yards, day-care centers, kennels and camping trailers.

City Attorney Casper Nighoghossian said the provisions restricting fences and walls should be removed from the zoning ordinance and made a separate ordinance.

He said doing that would allow the City Council and Police Department to deal swiftly and directly with violators rather than having to go through the zoning appeals process.

Nighoghossian also said the section dealing with home occupations should be made more restrictive so that persons could not open an auto-repair or auto body shop in their garage.

"We need to make sure home occupations are inside the home," he said.

Alderman Victor Valentine said the minimum lot size for a day-care center, 20,000 feet plus 100 square feet of fenced outdoor play area for each child — was the equivalent of eight lots and seemed too large.

The Zoning Commission agreed to consider cutting the required size in half.

Ervin said the commission would have at least one more meeting with the City Council and city attorney within the next 30 days or so to go over details in the draft ordinance and to incorporate suggestions from the hearing into the ordinance before the commission puts together a final draft of the ordinance.

Congress gains from living adjustments

By Roger McGrath
Correspondent

This year's cost-of-living adjustment for the average Social Security recipient (annual income from all sources) of $21,750 is $19 a month, a 3-percent increase. For members of Congress (1992 income: $129,500), the COLA will boost income $345 a month, a 3.2-percent increase.

Reason for the disparity in the cost-of-living adjustments: It depends on which measure of inflation is used.

That's why the difference in COLAs doesn't surprise Scott Hodge, of the Heritage Foundation, a conservative think tank in Washington, D.C. "Congress, like the elite aristocracy in any culture, will cook the rules to benefit themselves and their own."

The Social Security COLA is calculated on the increase in the Consumer Price Index for all urban consumers. Salary adjustments for Congress, the federal judiciary and bureaucrats are based on the Employment Cost Index, a measure of compensation costs in the private sector.

Congressmen aren't wont to call their 1992 pay hike a cost-of-living adjustment. "It's not that at all," protests Joseph Sisk, director of the House Compensation and Employee Benefits subcommittee. The preferred term is "comparability increase."

That is, the 3.2-percent adjustment is necessary to keep pace with wage and salary increases in private business, he says.

Congressional rationale aside, the use of the COLA as a cost-of-living COLA because it is an automatic adjustment, says Virginia Guzman, regional economist for the Bureau of Labor Statistics in Kansas City.

Congress could have picked any of the many indices in use as measures for keeping members' salaries in step with rising prices. Consider the Consumer Price Index. The best-known, most widely watched is the CPI for all urban consumers, an index that tracks the cost of goods and services purchased by 80 percent of the population, those living in metropolitan areas.

There are scores of lesser-known CPIs. Many union contracts specify that workers' wages be indexed to the CPI for urban wage earners, a category that tracks consumer prices paid by blue collar and clerical workers, about 32 percent of the population, Guzman points out.

Separate CPIs are kept for regions, metro areas, for health-care and for housing.

Other inflation measures include the producer price index, which measures price changes in goods and services.

Another measure is the gross domestic product deflator, an index that covers the entire economy, not just consumer goods. Jack Tatum, economist with the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, adds, "Over a long period of time, these indexes move similarly," he adds. For instance, in the five years ended in September 1992, prices averaged a 1.5-percent annual increase, the CPI 3.1 percent, the GDP deflator 3.9 percent and the employment cost index 4.4 percent.

Actually, economists expect the employment cost index to increase faster than consumer prices, reflecting rising real incomes or wages that grow faster than inflation, says Laurence Meyer, of Laurence H. Meyer & Associates, Clayton.

Which is why Congress' tying of its pay to the employment cost index doesn't surprise the Heritage Foundation's Hodge. "It's another one of those things that make us cynical about Washington," he says.

At the situation.

Panelist the Rev. James Voelker of St. Joseph's Parish in St. Louis said it is the responsibility of white people to change their racial attitudes.

It is very difficult to be white and not tainted by racism because we were raised at a time in our history where we were and are in positions of power," Voelker said.

the school board's option, be considered on an individual basis for retirement in 1995, Owca said.

Teachers may not elect to take advantage of the offer in 1995. The only way for an employee to retire under the plan in 1995 is to apply for consideration in 1994, but be denied because the 30 percent cap would be exceeded by the retirement.

If less than 30 percent of those eligible apply in 1994, Owca said, no retirement incentives will be granted under the plan in 1995.

There is no cap on 1993 retirements.

Teachers who intend to take advantage of the plan this year must notify the district by March 15.

Those wanting to retire the following year have until March 15, 1994, to notify the district of their intent.

Comedy farce to be staged

Summerstage Inc. will present its next theatrical offering, a French farce entitled "Three Bags Full" by Jerome Chodorov, in six performances.

Feb. 19, 20, 25 and 26 performances will cost $6. Feb. 26 and 27 will be dinner-theater performances. Tickets will be $15 for the dinner and show.

Reservations are strongly suggested, particularly for the dinner theaters. All performances will be at the Summerstage Playhouse, 2906 Pershing Blvd., Granite City. Dinner theater begins at 6 p.m. and regular performances will be at 7:30 p.m. For ticket information, call 451-1032.

The light-hearted, slightly confused comedy revolves around three carpet bags that move fast. There is mistaken identity and misdirection. The play has formed the basis for several Hollywood films, the latest being "Oscar."

The production is directed by John Mefford, assisted by Tracy Ellis. They last teamed to direct the first production in the Summerstage Playhouse, "The Musical Comedy Murders of 1940."

Mefford enjoys working with unusual scenic and costume designs and this show will follow that pattern, basing the production on "concept theater."

The cast is: Kathleen (the maid) — Jennifer Norris; Bascom Barlow (the father) — Marty Eckhard; Richard Foyle (the suitor) — Marc Lull; Angela (the daughter) — Beth Pennell; Genevieve (the wife) — Dora Moenster; Jeanette (the impostor) — Sandy Stover; Boris (the chauffeur) — Chris Madden; Jenkins (the butler) — Gary Schneider; Mr. Cottingham (the banker) — Jack Moenster; Charlotte (the new maid) — Rogers Mefford; and Preston Cottingham (the banker's son) — Charles Hill Jr.

PEOPLE SHOULD GET TOGETHER FOR LUNCH... NOT OUTPATIENT SURGERY.

Outpatient surgery has many advantages. But spending time in a large "shared" room close to other patients before and after surgery isn't one of them - particularly when you may not be at your best or when you need to discuss your personal medical concerns with your physician or nurse.

From patient evaluations of our services, they told us privacy is an important priority. We listened. Memorial's Outpatient Surgery Center sets new standards for others to follow by providing personalized care by exceptional nursing professionals in our 28 private patient areas - each with a TV and room for family members to stay with you before and after surgery.

They told us to pay attention to other important things, like prompt registration, a separate family waiting area, adjacent parking and a drive-up entrance. We did. Small conveniences, perhaps, but aren't these what we notice most?

When your physician recommends outpatient surgery - from minor to the most complex procedures - ask that it be performed at Memorial's Outpatient Surgery Center - providing the convenience of outpatient surgery and the immediate back-up of a full-service medical center.

Lady Warriors stumble into regional play

Rugged Panthers earn 66-41 victory

By Scott Wuerz
Correspondent

The Granite City girls basketball team ended its regular season on a low note and dropped to 15-4 with a 66-41 defeat to Jerseyville at home Thursday night.

The Panthers overwhelmed Granite City with a pressing defense in a game which was never closely contested. Jerseyville held the Lady Warriors to seven points in the third quarter. Jerseyville freshman Amy Mortenson scored 24 points, including nine in the second half, to put the Lady Warriors out of the game.

Balancing act

Versatility keeps Kult court active

By Scott Wuerz
Correspondent

The Granite City High School athletic department was forced to take another reluctant step toward the post-Stephanie Kult era Thursday night as the three-sport star wrapped up her final regular-season basketball game at the school.

Kult finished up with an 8-point, 8-rebound performance in the team's losing effort against Jerseyville. She completed her final volleyball season earlier in her senior year and has only soccer left on her agenda.

"She brings a lot of things to the floor that the people who can't watch the games don't even see," Lobdell said. "They see that she scores eight or ten points and gets eight or ten rebounds, but they don't realize that she is just like another coach on the floor."

"(Kult) is probably the best practice player I've ever seen. She comes to work day in and day out and because of that, she is a great example for the other players."

Lobdell said he is unsure who will take on the leadership role next season for a young Lady Warrior team.

"We know that somewhere we will find a way to come up with the numbers she put on the scoreboard for us," Lobdell said. "But she held down the back position, the one position where the defender can see the whole floor — in our one-three-one defense and I don't know if we've got anybody who can jump right into that job."

The Lady Warriors will have only three upper-class players on the squad next season: forward Jamie Cavarress, the team's leading scorer; reserve Mikia Economy. None of them are in a position to assume Kult's defensive forward role.

The Lady Warriors will likely have to look to a group of relatively inexperienced sophomores to fill in for Kult, including center/forward Joana Gornoski and forwards Robin Cain and Holly Farnsworth.

Trojans outlast Devils in renewal of rivalry

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

The Madison and Venice High School basketball teams renewed some of the fire to their rivalry Thursday night, producing an excitement-filled contest that went down to the wire at Venice before Madison hung on for a 55-53 win.

Both teams have struggled on and off this year, and the Trojans embarrassed the Devils 66-42 in an earlier confrontation at Madison. This time, Madison survived a second-half comeback and completed a sweep over the hosts when a series of shots by the Devils failed to go through in the final seconds.

"I'm glad it went down to the wire," Venice coach Clinton Harris said. "I think both teams put in a good effort. They really wanted to come out and play hard."

The win was a much-needed boost of confidence for Madison, which snapped a grueling four-game losing streak. The Trojans had lost to St. Louis power Vashon and Class A Illinois powers Jacksonville, Flora and Springfield Calvary.

The Trojans' last win came against Okawville on Jan. 29. That win against Okawville-was a godsend, and so was this one," Madison coach Al Collins said. "We needed this one badly. If we had lost, I don't know if we could have ever recovered."

Venice nearly forced overtime after putting together a tremendous comeback in the second half. The Red Devils stayed close to the Trojans and entered the fourth quarter down 44-39.

With 3:16 left in the fourth quarter, Orlando Porter hit a 3-pointer to cut Madison's lead to 50-49. The Venice fans erupted, but a free throw by Madison guard Robert Weathers, a putback by William Russell and a jumper by Ronnie Williams gave the visitors a 55-50 advantage.

Porter kept Venice alive, however, by swishing a 3-pointer near the top of the key and forcing Madison to call time out with the score 55-53.

The Trojans then worked the clock and point guard Eugene Williams drew a foul and went to the free-throw line with 12 seconds left. After a Venice time out, Williams missed the front end of a one-and-one and the rebound went to Venice's Brandon Burnett.

Burnett passed off to Venice point guard Cedric Wiley, who dribbled downcourt and put up a foul and went to the free-throw line. The shot rolled out to Venice center Jermaine Ware, who had a chance to tie the game but missed a layup as time expired.

"I told them to get it to Ced," Harris said. "He got off a good shot, it just rolled out. Then Ware almost did it."

Collins said the finish was a (See Rivalry, Page 3B)

Kahoks roll up win over Warriors, 68-41

By David Wilhelm
Staff writer

It's been a long season for the Granite City Warriors and first-year coach John Van Buskirk. And on Friday against host Collinsville, it got even longer.

The Kahoks scored the final 12 points of the second quarter and rolled to a 39-14 halftime lead en route to a 68-41 victory. Surging Collinsville stretched its victory streak to six games.

When the teams met at Granite City on Jan. 8, the Kahoks led just 22-18 at half-time before pulling away in the second half and winning 60-38. There were no dramatic moments in the rematch.

"This time, we really jumped on them at the beginning," said Collinsville senior Jack McClain, who had 11 points, 10 assists and eight rebounds. "And we didn't let up at the end. We just kept playing harder and harder."

John Curry, Cory Garcia and Jeff Steigelman caught fire in the first half to give the Kahoks their huge lead. Curry (game-high 20 points) and Garcia (14) combined to make 11 consecutive shots, and Steigelman drilled three 3-pointers in the second quarter.

"I didn't think we had played as well the last couple of weeks as earlier (in the season)," said Kahoks coach Bob Bone. "We kind of changed things this week. We went back (See Warriors, Page 3B) to going a little longer in practice, doing a little bit more running and working harder.

"Normally about this time of year, we're letting up a little bit, trying to get our legs back. Hopefully, that helped us."

The Warriors could generate little offense. Their leading scorers — seniors Jim Clutts and Les Nunes, and sophomore Pat Curry — had just seven points apiece.

Van Buskirk had no comment following the game. The Warriors made just 17 of 42 shots.

The loss dropped Granite City's record to 6-14 overall and 1-7 in the Southwestern Conference. Collinsville improved to 16-5 and 7-1.

John Curry rebounded from his eight-point game against Belleville West on Feb. 5. He made his first seven shots from the field to set the tone.

"I was comfortable," said Curry, who benefited from several slick passes from McClain. "I just relaxed, came out and played hard. I didn't play any defense, but I came out and played hard."

Rivalry

bit too close for his liking. The Trojans outscored the Devils 40-30, but Ware pulled down what could have been the biggest rebound of the night. He finished with a game-high 16 boards.

"There were no green shirts in there after (Wiley's) shot," Collins said. "They almost beat us in the regional last year. We were very fortunate to get out of here with a win."

"I knew it would be a close game, but I really didn't anticipate it being this close. It's always tough on their home court."

"We played a good game," Harris said. "I was satisfied. Everybody knows what they did wrong."

Harris was thrilled to see his big man, Ware, pull down so many rebounds. This is just the second year of competition for the 6-foot-3 junior.

"He missed a few easy layups, but he made up on the defensive end by getting all those rebounds," Harris said. "He's been improving every game for us. I've really been satisfied with his play. He's a good kid, and he wants to learn."

Another key performance came from Porter, a senior who has stepped into the starting lineup to replace ineligible forward Richard Jones.

Porter led the Devils with 17 points, including 3 3-pointers.

"Porter really surprised me," Collins said. "I was shocked by what he did."

"They were sagging in on Ware, so I told Porter to take his time and hit a couple shots," Harris said. "He did a good

Garcia scored 35 points against the Warriors on Jan. 8. On Friday, he was held four points under his average, but it opened up other opportunities for the Kahoks. They took advantage.

"I think that's what opened it up a lot," said McClain. "Everybody else got more active around the ball and John got hot. They couldn't stop him."

Granite City — which had 14 turnovers in the first half — scored the game's initial basket at the 5:14 mark of the first quarter. The 2-0 lead was its only advantage of the game. The Kahoks scored the next eight points during a 16-3 run that featured 10 points from Curry.

The lead grew to 23-6 early in the second quarter on Steigelman's first 3-pointer. Steigelman hit successive 3-pointers late in the period, giving Collinsville a 35-14 edge. McClain capped the 12-0 run by scoring twice from close range, but ending the game by halftime.

"I thought we played well in the first half," Bone said. "We had a couple of turnovers early, but after that, I thought our kids executed well. And we shot the ball well (28 of 44 overall). When we shoot the ball well, we normally look pretty good."

Kult

Kessel said despite the different roles she and Kult have played in the past, she hopes she can assume Kult's team leadership role.

"After the loss of (Kult) and (senior center) Dana (Dresch) we'll be without a lot of the height we had last season, so our whole game will change," Kessel said. "One thing I think I might be able to do to help, though, is to bring some of the competitive spirit she brings. We have to come together as a team though to overcome this."

"I like to play basketball and volleyball to stay active and stay in shape, but I think soccer is what I'm best at."

— Stephanie Kult
Lady Warrior three-sport

On the individual level, Kult said, she hopes to continue her athletic career at the college level, and is considering attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to play soccer as a goalkeeper.

"Soccer is really my favorite sport, so that is a major consideration in deciding where I want to go to college," Kult said. "I like to play basketball and volleyball to stay active and stay in shape, but I think soccer is what I'm best at."

Kult refuses to look too far into the future, however, because the Lady Warriors still have the regional basketball tournament ahead — beginning Monday at home against Jacksonville.

Kult said she thinks the Granite City cagers have the ability to go the distance at the regional if they are able to rebound from injuries and play the type of game they did earlier in the season.

"We've played a couple of tough teams in our last few games and we haven't been extremely healthy," Kult said. "But when we play together as a team we know we can beat anybody."

Lobdell said he hopes his players can pull together for a final push in the postseason.

"We've been pretty beat up with Jamie's ankle and a couple of girls who have been sick," Lobdell said. "Hopefully, with the three-day rest we can rest up and be ready to play on Monday."

Granite City finished up the season at 15-8, including a 7-3 record in the Southwestern Conference, tying them with East St. Louis for first place. The Flyers, however, defeated Granite City in both of their games this season. The Lady Warriors' only other conference setback came at the hands of Belleville East, 41-38.

underneath the boards.
Jerseyville led 34-24 at intermission.

Granite City coach Allen Lobdell said the victory put the Lady Warriors' postseason chances into perspective. Regional play begins Monday.

"Our first-round game (7:30 p.m. Monday against Jacksonville) will be no cakewalk by any stretch of the imagination," Lobdell said. "But we know if we get past them, we will have to face East St. Louis and eventually Jerseyville again."

The Warriors have lost to the Flyerettes both times they played them during the season, but Lobdell said he hopes his squad gets another crack at them.

"I know the girls might not feel the same way, but I'd sure like to see them again," Lobdell said. "We played them really tough at their place and we were a little bit under the weather at the time."

"I really think if we played them now that we could give them a much better game."

Jerseyville coach John Driscoll said he is wary of the prospect of playing the Lady Warriors again in the postseason, despite the lopsided score in their first meeting.

Granite City has a good team filled with smart players and we have to have to give them a chance to see us before the regional," Driscoll said. "We played a good all-around game tonight, but I know they'll be ready if we have to face them again."

The victory put the Panthers at 24-1 for the season—a season in which they have earned the No. 1 regional seed, Driscoll said, however, his team will bear no extra pressure because of the recognition.

"On top is where we really like to be, so I don't think the extra pressure will effect us,"

Driscoll said. "We play the same style every game no matter who we face, so it doesn't really matter who we play."

"If we play the type of game we're capable of, we know we can play with anyone. Let the chips fall where they may."

Granite City will face Jacksonville at home and the Panthers will face Alton in Jerseyville in the opening round of the regional tournament Monday.

All playoffs will continue through next week, culminating with the sectional final Feb. 25 at Collinsville. The winner advances to the Belleville East Super-Sectional.

Granite City forward Jamie Cavaness had 15 points in Thursday night's loss to Jerseyville.

Players needed for AABC teams

A Granite City baseball coach, Doug Winfield, is looking to form teams for a traveling league to compete in the American Amateur Baseball Congress. Players born after Aug. 1, 1978, are needed.

The league will have a regular-season summer schedule and a playoff format leading to AABC state tournament play. The league is for players who would like to compete against teams throughout the southwestern Illinois region.

For more information, call Winfield after 5 p.m. at 931-7082.

Park district now accepting sign-ups

The Granite City Park District is now taking sign-ups for boys and girls interested in playing youth baseball and ponyball softball.

Any boy or girl whose birthday falls between Sept. 1, 1984 and Dec. 31, 1985 is eligible. Names are placed on a list, and teams are formed from the list or by managers who need players to fill out their rosters.

Boys or girls who will be 15 years old and younger may also have their name put on a list, and every effort will be made to get them on a team. Anyone interested in managing a youth baseball or softball team should call or stop in the park office. Call Ray Hoffman at the Wilson Park office, 877-3059, for more information.

The park district is also forming a new Tuesday night coed softball league for play at Wilson Park. The league will begin April 27 and will have a 12-game schedule, plus playoffs. The fees for the league are $200 plus $20 per person living outside the park district.

Pregnancy Center receives donation

The Metro-East Crisis Pregnancy Center received a gift of $55 from Aid Association for Lutherans.

The gift is a portion of a large amount raised by AAL branches in the Metro-East area to benefit six area organizations. The check was presented to Kathy Sparks, MECPC, by Don and Sarah Repp, officers of AAL branch 252, representing Concordia, Hope and St. John Lutheran churches in Granite City.

AAL is a membership organization based in Appleton, Wis., that offers insurance products

Mind Games events planned

Certain as eggs dropping out of the late winter sky, the College of Engineering at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale is hatching plans for its 13th annual Mind Games and laboratory open house to celebrate National Engineers Week.

This year's events will take place Tuesday, Feb. 23, with labs open from 8:30 a.m. until noon and games beginning at 9 a.m.

More than 400 competitors, including SIUC students, local high school students, and members of the general public are expected to enter eight separate Mind Games events, which range from a one hour bridge building contest to the spectator's favorite Egg Drop, which sends eggs in specially constructed cartons to meet their state of competing in the Engineering Pentathlon, the participants' choice of five Mind Games events.

For the first time this year, the college will host an Engineering Bowl with high school scholar teams from across southern Illinois invited to participate. The competition will focus on math, science, and engineering problems.

Earney on dean's list at EKV

Elizabeth Ann Earney of Granite City is among 1,175 students at Eastern Kentucky University to be named to the dean's list for fall semester study.

To achieve dean's list honors at EKV, students attempting 14 or more credit hours must earn a 3.5 grade point average out of a possible 4.0.

Students attempting 13 credit hours must earn a 3.65 GPA, and students attempting 12 credit hours must earn a 3.75 GPA. "We are always delighted to honor outstanding academic achievement at Eastern Kentucky University," said EKV President Hanly Funderburk. "These students' academic performance reflects both their diligence and the hard work of our faculty."

Of the 1,319 dean's list students last semester, 469 earned a perfect 4.0 grade point average. Eastern Kentucky University is a comprehensive university serving about 17,000 students on its 350-acre Richmond campus, throughout its 22-county extended service region, and beyond.

Retiring board members of HEA county honored

At the annual Madison County Homemakers Extension Association Christmas Party, three retiring board members were honored.

The three are: Pat Mitchell of Granite City, retiring as special activities director; Janet Kruse of Highland, retiring as first vice president; and Ruth Meyer, retiring as international director.

They were presented framed replicas of a special U.S. postage stamp that was issued on Oct. 26, 1964, in Honolulu, Hawaii, during the 50th anniversary celebration of the Smith-Lever Act, which made cooperative extension service possible. The Smith-Lever Act made possible "out-of-school" adult-youth education at Land Grant Colleges.

This official stamp honored Homemakers of America and Homemakers Extension. Genevieve J. Hill, special activities director, made the presentation.

Shortcake with strawberries and lasagna

Chocolate, strawberries and whipping cream have a natural affinity, and they are featured in a fabulous dessert idea, Chocolate Strawberry Shortcake. This creation is a perfect finale for a Valentine's Day dinner.

To precede the shortcake, serve lasagna noodle roll-ups filled with spinach and two varieties of Italian cheese.

The lasagna rolls and sauce can be assembled a day ahead of time and the not-too-sweet dessert is easy to prepare in stages. A simple salad rounds out the menu.

The shortcakes can be made a day in advance. The cream can be whipped several hours before serving and stored in the refrigerator. Be sure to chill the bowl, beaters and cream well before starting to whip. At serving time, whipped cream and fresh or frozen strawberries provide the filling. The final embellishment is chocolate sauce.

Chocolate Strawberry Shortcake filled with whipped cream is a perfect dessert for a special valentine.

Chocolate strawberry shortcake

3 1/2 cups buttermilk baking mix
1/2 cup cocoa
1/2 cup plus 2 tbsp., and 4 tsp. granulated sugar
1 cup milk
5 tbsp. butter, melted
1 egg white, slightly beaten
2 cups whipping cream
1/2 cup confectioner's sugar
2 pt. fresh strawberries, halved, or frozen strawberries, thawed
8 whole fresh strawberries for garnish, if desired
1 cup prepared chocolate sauce

Preheat oven to 400°. Butter or grease cookie sheet.
Combine baking mix, cocoa and 1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar. Stir in milk and butter until well combined. Drop portions — about 1/2 cup each — on prepared cookie sheet. Brush lightly with egg white. Sprinkle with 4 teaspoons sugar. Bake in preheated oven 16 to 18 minutes.

Remove from cookie sheet. Cool completely on wire rack.

To serve, whip cream in chilled bowl with chilled beaters until stiff peaks form. Fold in confectioner's sugar.

Split each shortcake horizontally in half. Spread bottom with whipped cream and strawberries. Place top of shortcake over strawberries. Top with whipped cream and whole strawberry.

Spoon 2 tablespoons chocolate sauce over each.

Makes 8 servings; 618 calories, 7 g protein, 5 g fat and 75 g carbohydrate each.

Valentine roll-ups

8 fluted lasagna noodles, uncooked
1/2 cup chopped onion
3 tbsp. butter, divided
1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach, thawed, well drained
1 1/2 cups (6 oz.) shredded provolone cheese

1/2 cup dairy sour cream
2 tbsp. flour
1/2 tsp. instant chicken bouillon
Pinch pepper
1 cup milk
2 cans (6 oz. each) Italian-style tomato paste
1/4 cup grated romano cheese

Cook noodles according to package directions. Cool in large bowl of cold water.

Preheat oven to 350°. Butter or grease 1 1/2-quart rectangular baking dish.

Sauté onion in 1 tablespoon butter about 5 minutes until tender. Combine spinach, onion, provolone cheese and sour cream.

Melt 2 tablespoons butter in small saucepan. Remove from heat. Stir in flour, bouillon and pepper until smooth. Gradually stir in milk. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute.

Remove noodles from water and pat dry. Spread each noodle with about 2 tablespoons tomato paste. Spread about 1/4 cup spinach mixture over tomato paste. Roll up jellyroll fashion, starting at short end.

Place in buttered 1 1/2-quart rectangular baking dish. Spoon sauce over roll-ups, making sure entire surface of noodle is covered. Sprinkle with romano cheese. Bake in preheated oven 20 to 30 minutes until hot and bubbly.

Makes 4 servings; 589 calories, 26 g protein, 29 g fat and 53 g carbohydrate each.

Venture

Baked beans, chili are a winning mix

Cynthia Neff, 1103 Victory Drive, is this week's winner of dinner certificates for the Pasta House Company for Bean and Chili Casserole.

It crosses the flavors of sweet baked beans and spicy chili and ends up with the consistency of chili.

Weekly winners during March will be taken from entries in the Overnight Dish Recipe Contest, which should be postmarked by Feb. 28. Suggested recipes for overnight dishes include salads, marinated meats and brunch casseroles.

A single entry to the contest should be sent to: Overnight Dish Recipe Contest, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131. One winner each week — a total of five in March — will be chosen on the basis of taste and eye appeal, as well as originality, although the recipe need not be original. Double-check directions and specific amounts, giving variations that individualize the recipe.

If possible, tell where the recipe came from and give specific information about special touches that give it a personal signature. Indicate which Journal newspaper you receive.

Duplicate entries will be considered on the basis of earlier entry or best compliance with rules. Contest winners may enter again six months after their prize-winning publication date.

NBC cheated, embarrassed itself in GM truck report

By Ian MacBryde
Correspondent

It was, at the very least, immensely embarrassing. And not just for Jane Pauley and Stone Phillips who sat uncomfortably on the set of "Dateline NBC" and read a statement admitting that the program had inappropriately used "an unscientific demonstration" in its Nov. 17 report which alleged that some General Motors pickups are unsafe because of the placement of the gas tanks.

It also was hugely embarrassing for those among us who have said that, despite the competitive attitudes of people in television journalism, despite their pandering, their sensationalism, and their emphasis on the prurient, at least what they showed the audience was true as they saw it. Oops.

Bottom line: NBC cheated. NBC broke the rules that mandate that you don't cheat, you don't misrepresent, you don't obscure information to prove your case. No matter that General Motors has its own video which indicates that the gas tanks on some models are likely to rupture and cause an explosion. No matter that a court found GM liable in at least one case. All that is obscured by the fact that NBC cheated, and to quote one careful observer of television news, "How can we ever trust them again?"

It would be easy to blame the incident on one small group of people involved in the production of one story, to dismiss it as an aberration and to point out that almost everyone involved in the production of television news does play by the rules. But unfortunately, I'm not so sure anymore.

I am reminded by a colleague that it was some 20 years ago when a CBS reporter was censured for staging a pot party because the network wanted to show what happened at one. I think almost everyone in the industry then was shaken to the core by that incident. I would like to think that people, in television and out, will be just as shocked by this latest gaffe. But I'm afraid they won't be.

And maybe the worst indicator of all came from NBC's statement of remorse. Phillips said, in part: "We have also concluded that unscientific demonstrations should have no place in hard news stories." If NBC has only just come to that conclusion, I, for one, have misplaced my trust for a good many years. I don't know about you, but the thought makes me shudder.

Ashe gaffe. Speaking of embarrassment, somebody should have the decency to apologize to the American public. I don't blame HBO because, presumably, HBO was just the messenger. But during the recent (2/6/93) broadcast of the Riddick Bowe-Michael Dokes heavyweight championship fight, boxing embarrassed itself before a national audience. Now you might think that it would be impossible for boxing to embarrass itself more than it does regularly but this was special.

Hours before the fight had come the sad news of the death of Arthur Ashe, world-class tennis player and even better human being. We were treated to an announcement by the ring announcer that, to memorialize Ashe, the timekeeper would count him out. And so we listened in agony to the tolling of the bell.

The people with whom I was watching, young, male and female, were as appalled by this bad taste as I was.

How do we explain to boxing that Ashe was not a vanquished fighter? He was not beaten. With great dignity, and great honor, he moved on. That's all.

Bill Murray stars in the romantic comedy, "Groundhog Day."

'Groundhog Day' provides endless funny opportunities

By Harry Hamm
Correspondent

Headliner Bill Murray says there were some important basic differences between him and "Groundhog Day" director Harold Ramis over the film's central focus.

In "Groundhog Day," Murray plays an egotistical television weatherman who gets stuck in time in Punxsutawney, Pa., and is forced to relive Feb. 2nd, Groundhog Day, over and over.

"The origins of the perpetual misadventure are never explained. It is obvious in the text of the film, however, that Murray's primary hope of escaping his time trap is to become a better person, as established in his improved behavior toward his producer Rita, played by Andie MacDowell, and his cameraman Larry, played by Chris Elliott.

"I never thought I couldn't pull it off," Murray said about his role, "but sometimes I thought I didn't want to. It was cold outside, and I get cranky when it's too cold. You can only drink so much minestrone soup until one day you tell yourself, 'This is nuts. I should be in Florida.'"

"The big thing, though, was that I thought this movie should be more of a comedy because of the set-up of the situations," he said. "The comic possibilities were almost limitless. But Harold Ramis is the director, and he wanted to do more of a romantic story. We disagreed on that. So because he is the director and the film is all in cans over at his house, he got to decide."

"Groundhog Day" marks the sixth feature film collaboration between Ramis and Murray. The other pictures were "Meatballs," "Caddyshack," "Stripes," "Ghostbusters" and "Ghostbusters II."

Regardless of their disagreement, Ramis said Murray was always his natural choice to play the cynical opportunist weatherman who finds himself transformed by his infinite Groundhog Day experience.

"Bill's persona sort of embodies the best and worst in people," Ramis said. "I've lived with the voice of Bill Murray in my head so long, it was kind of fun to think of him stuck in Punxsutawney and imagine the different ways he would approach Groundhog Day as he relived it over and over again."

The story also seems to coincide with Bill's own spiritual interests. His commitment in life is to making each day somehow special.

In reviewing his past work with Ramis, Murray, 41, said the movie "Caddyshack" was the most significant to him. The film, which was released in 1980, is a comedy about the members and caddies at a country club. Murray played the eccentric groundskeeper whose mission in life is to catch and kill a mole.

An avid golfer himself, Murray says "Caddyshack" is the only movie ever made that actually talks to golfers and depicts their overt passions for the game. Murray noted that since the release of the movie, he can go to any club in any American city and immediately be allowed to play, no questions asked.

"I'm a really lazy guy," Murray confessed. "Other than playing golf, if I didn't have a job as an actor, I'd probably be doing nothing. I'm not motivated."

"I saw a documentary on television about Howard Hughes and how he lived. It was part of the 'Biography Series' on the A&E channel that's hosted by Peter Graves. They were acting like there was something wrong with the Hughes. I said to myself, 'Wait a minute. That's me! You got a problem with that, Mr. Graves?'"

In Murray's next film, "Mad Dog and Glory," set for release March 5, Murray has his first serious role since "The Razor's Edge" in 1984.

He plays a gangster whose life is a satire of the movie cop, played by Robert De Niro.
